delivered a session on molecular mechanics. He has elaborated about how the potential energy of all systems including medicinal moieties and drug binding sites are calculated as a function of the nuclear coordinates using force fields. He has satisfied queries of participants. It was wonderful experience to listen to his session. The session was coordinated by Chairperson Dr. Praful Sabale, Professor, UDPS, Nagpur. Another session was delivered by Dr. Ravindra R. Patil, Associate Professor, R. C. Patel Education and Research, Shirpur, Dhule. He talk was based on QSAR. He has explain how to predict the activity/property/toxicity of new chemical entity (NCE) falling within the domain of applicability of the developed models. His lecture was coordinated by Chairperson Dr. Alpana Asnanai, Professor J. L. Chaturvedi College of Pharmacy. After launch the third session was conducted by Dr. Vivekanand Chatpalliwar, Professor, of Shreeman Sureshdada Jain College of Pharmacy, Chandwad, Nashik. He has spoken on Pharmacophore modelling and molecular docking. He has emphasizes in his speech to identify and extract the possible interactions between a ligand-receptor complex as well as to design model interaction between a small molecule and a protein at the atomic level. During his lecture participants were very interactive and he has enthusiastically answered all queries raised by participants. His session was coordinated by Chairperson Mr. Rajesh Lohiya, Professor, Smt. Kishoritai Bhoyar College of Pharmacy, Nagpur.

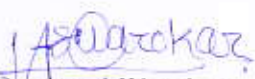

In the valedictory function, there was auspicious presence of Dr. A. T Patil, Retired Professor, UDPS, Nagpur. The function was attended by office bearer, State APTI and local chapter. He has given inspirational speech. Finally the function was concluded by Vote of Thanks delivered by Dr. Amol Warokar, Coordinator & Associate Professor, DBCOP, Nagpur. The seminar has received good coverage in the print media and received tremendous positive feedback from participants.
