Program / Celebration Report

Name of the Program Conducted: Women's Day 2024

Relevant Occasion:

On March 8, 2024, the Women's Development Cell at Dadasaheb Balpande College of Pharmacy (DBCOP) orchestrated a compelling event to commemorate International Women's Day. Held within the college premises, the occasion drew attendance from female students and faculty alike. Under the theme "Invest in Women: Accelerate Progress," the event featured a lecture delivered by Dr. Ramya Nisal, a distinguished Senior Trainer from the "Sakshi" Foundation.

Dr. Nisal's discourse centered on the notion encapsulated by the theme, stressing the critical importance of advancing gender equality and empowering women. She eloquently articulated how such endeavors transcend mere matters of justice and human rights, constituting a strategic imperative for fostering sustainable development and progress. Through recognizing and investing in the inherent value and potential of women, she emphasized, we pave the way towards a more equitable, prosperous, and inclusive society for all.

The event, meticulously arranged by the DBCOP Women's Development Cell, exemplified a commitment to fostering awareness and dialogue surrounding women's empowerment within the college community. By hosting speakers of Dr. Nisal's caliber and delving into crucial topics, such initiatives play a pivotal role in catalyzing positive change and promoting a culture of inclusivity and equality within the college and beyond.
